

Change Management Pursuit

Position Your Organization to Win at Change

Winning at change management shouldn't be a game of chance. Choosing the right training strategy to build your change capability depends on your organization's unique needs, and there are numerous paths to success.

Supporting Must-Win Projects

Your Needs

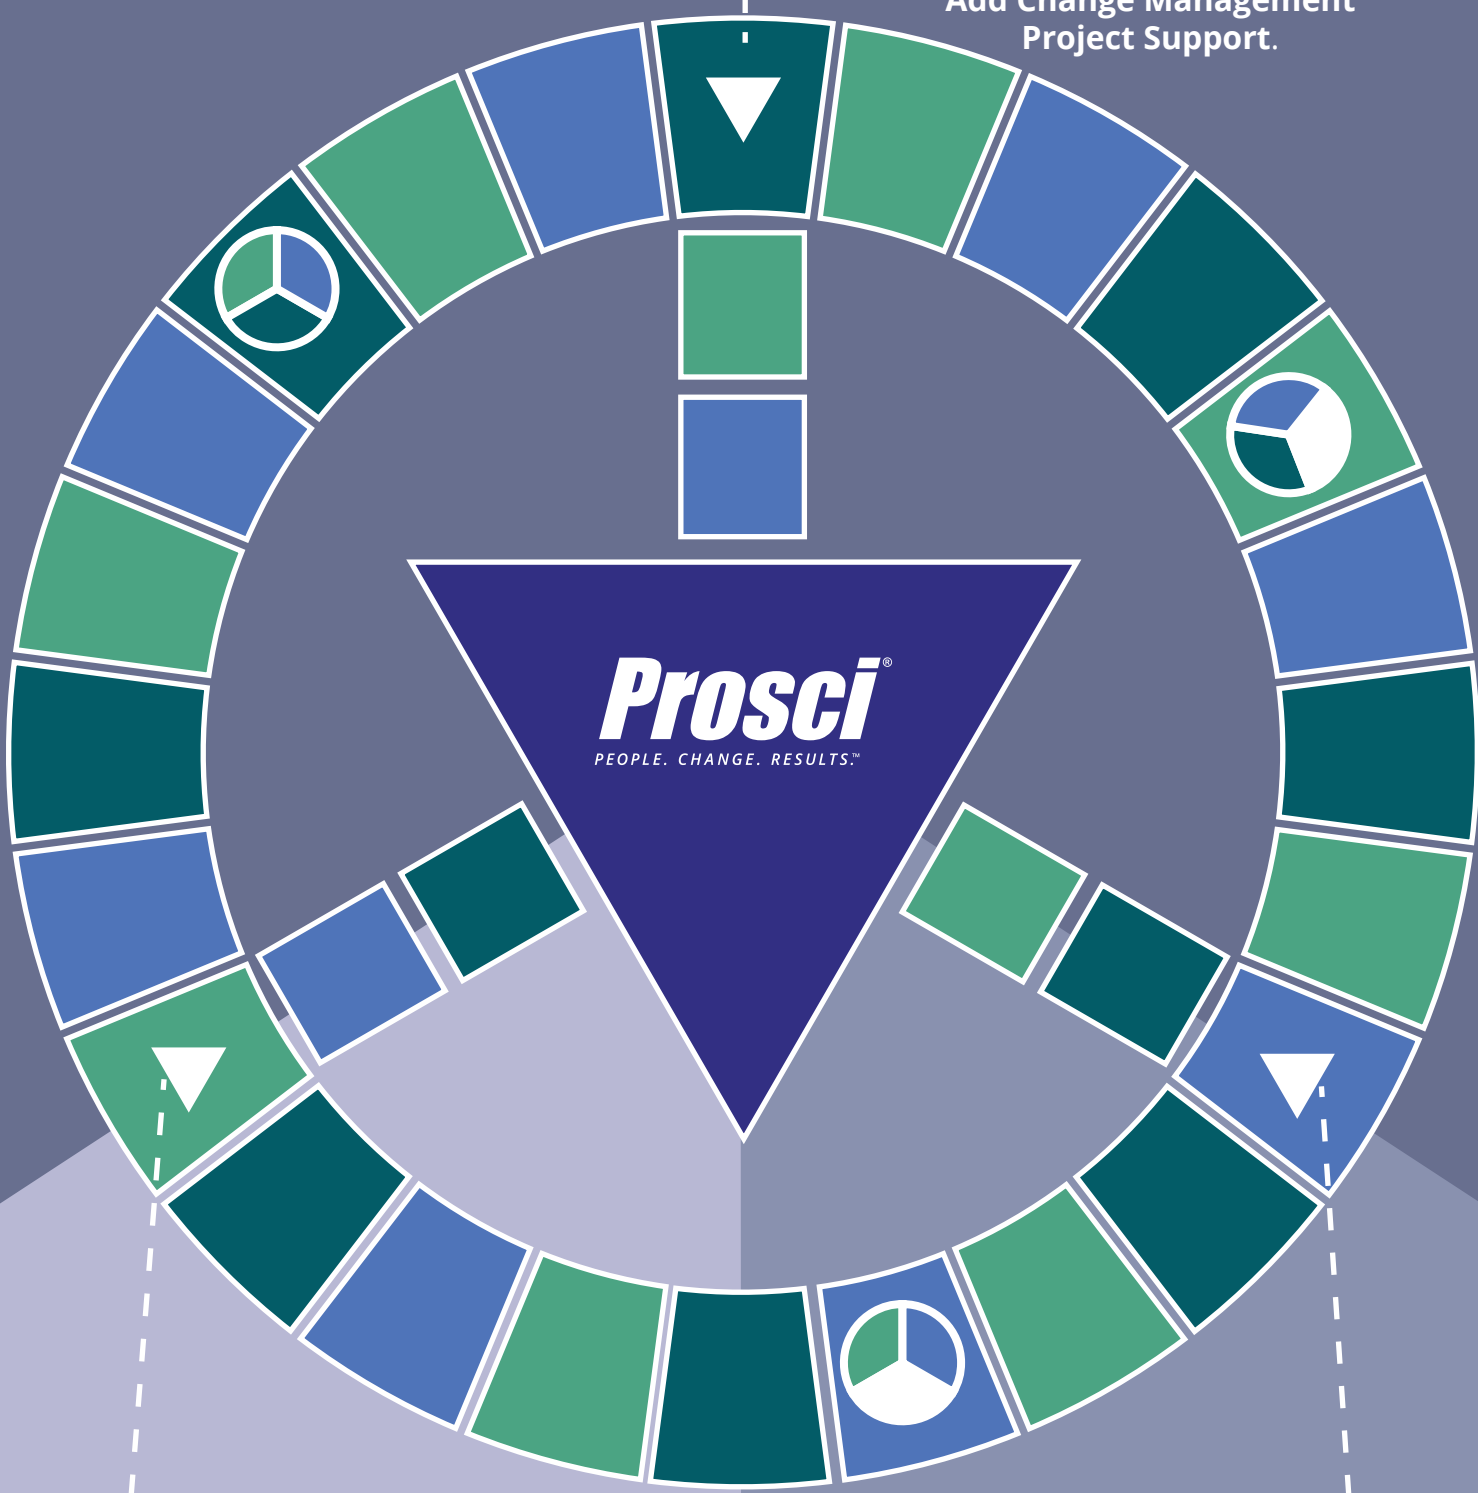

- Your organization must demonstrate successful outcomes on critical projects.
- After missing past objectives, you must improve adoption and usage quickly.

Winning Strategy

Change Management Sponsor Briefing
+
Change Management Certification Program
+
Leading Your Team Through Change

Need help applying change management? Add Change Management Project Support.

Developing Change Leaders

Your Needs

- Responding to change with agility is critical to your organization's strategic plans.
- You must augment a multi-tiered leadership development system to train key change leaders for your organization's future.

Winning Strategy

Change Management Sponsor Briefing
+
Leading Your Team Through Change
+
Taking Charge of Change

Want a head start on developing change management practitioners? Add the Change Management Certification Program.

Building Change Management Awareness

Your Needs

- You want select teams and individuals to value change management and its benefits.
- You need to help individuals understand the change management process while creating buy-in and a foundation for future projects.

Winning Strategy

Taking Charge of Change
+
Change Management Employee Orientation

Need to meet the unique training needs of a large or distributed workforce? Consider eLearning modules.

Choose a Winning Combination

Winning at change management starts with getting on the board, but rolling the dice can be risky. Tailoring your strategy for your organization's unique needs enables you to make smart training investments that help you build enterprise change capability and lead you down a focused, structured path to success.

Who Should Attend?

Delivered Virtually and In Person

Visit our website to learn more about Prosci's role-based training programs. Or contact Prosci to learn more.

Follow Us:

www.prosci.com

© Prosci, Inc. All rights reserved.